From Caucasian Oct. 19 .-

The following affidavit made by James H. Pou, ex-Chairman of the State Democratic Executive Com. mittee, during the last campaign, will be interesting reading. Our readers will remember that when. ever and wherever it was charged in the last campaign that if the Democratic machine under Simmons got control of the State, that they would offer a scheme to disfranchise illitterate votes, that the charge was indignantly denied and denounced by every Democratic speaker as being infamously false. Even Mr. Simmons, the Democratic State Chairman, issued an official statement to the voters of the State, branding every such charge as false in toto; saying that that campaign lie had been charged against the Democratic party before, and that the charge was now so old and so false that no one would believe it. Mr. James H. Pou, the ex-Chairman of the State Democratic Committee, in his speeches made the same declaration. But it seems that in one of his speeches in Moore dience expressed doubt of the truth of his indignant denial, and called upon him while upon the stand to know if he would make an afildavit to that effect. He publicly agreed to do so, we are informed. The result is the affidavit below, made at Raleigh, dated Oct. 14th, 1898. It will be noticed that Mr. Pou, shrewd, slick and cunning as he is, attempted to word his afflda vit so as not to say explicitly what he had said publicly on the stump, and yet at the same time, to say enough to make it appear that his affidavit had made good his campaign declaration, and fool the voters into accepting his statement and voting for the machine.

The following is a true copy of the affidavit: STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA, County of Wake.

The Democratic party is appealing to them for aid in preserving white supremacy in the center west and in restoring it in the Eastern part of this State. They are responding to our appeal, and to repay them for their aid with a disfranchisement of their votes would be folly and ingrattiude indeed. Sams is a native of Jonesboro, Tenn. and has been living in this State for about a year, for the past four months

When his wound 'was being exam ined in the clerk's office of the United States courtroom, where he was taken, Sams made a second attempt to take his life; and just subsequent to the examination, in casting his eye on the clerk's desk, he spied a steel ink eraser and with a mighty determination he eudeavored to get hold of it; but the interventive of the doctor and an officer prevented. The wound was probed and was found to be an inch deep.

Distinguished Man. Cheaper Funeral Would Save More Money for the Poor.

Soloman says: "A living dog is better than a dead lion." That may be so in a worldly sense, but the dead lion costs the most money.Iwas just readitemized statement of how much it cost to bury Senator Morrill. ernment expense, but it seems to me he could have been put away for less money. The sum total foots up $3,-442. The casket cost $100, ceda, shipping case $90, embalming $60, carriages $108, special train from Washington to Springfield $782, Springfield to Montpelier $117, fares for attendants from Troy to Washington $347, Pullman cars $300, commissaries $73, chamber $100, and crape and gloves and regalia and flowers $280, advertising programme $113, music $40,etc. But the largest item is $5,000, a year's salary after he died. This went to his That is the rule. If a member dies while in office his salrie goes on for a year. But Vermont was not so very far away. If a member from Cal-Ifornia or Oregon dies the cost of trans portation for the remains and the remains and the escort runs up into the thousands. Ah, my country! where the carcass is the eagles will be gathertogether. That is the reason I emblem for the treasury is the carcass.

I was ruminating about this grand parade over the burial of public menthe expense of it-the glitter and galthe grand excursion. Booker Washington says that the negro is never happier than when going to a funeral. White folks set them the example especially in the towns and cities. The truth is that a common man who parely support his family and is struggling along to educate his children can't afford to die, for the funeral expense take all he has left and leaves he family penniless. Poor Tom Brum Fat, or the materials dissolved from by had no wife or children, but for years had been supporting a poor old mother and educating an orphan niece. He had when he died $700 in bank and it took that-the last dollar-to bury him. I imagine that if he could have spoken in his last moments he would have said: "Give it to mother. Oh! give it to my mother. A $400 casket will do me no good." The very last letter that he wrote her from Manila said: 'If I do not get back there are $700 in bank for you."

Well, maybe Congress will grant the old lady a pension. Maybe so, but I reckon she will die before she gets and as for the prize money, I see that the government is fighting it, and that means its non-payment. Dewey's victory is an old song now: I wonder if they would bury him at public
